A TRUE STANDARD

CEO
Mrs Sarah Johnson

A beautiful white city of red roof tops in the middle of prairies, a pristine environment with state-of-the-art structures that enhances learning - these words aptly describe a visitor's first impression of Lifeforte International School, Ibadan.

Walking round the 22.5 acre estate, you will be fascinated by the expansive landscape on which the school is built. When you now chat with some of the students, they come across as a confident, cultured breed, trained to become leaders that will make a difference in the world today.

Lifeforte, established by Pastor and Mrs. Olubi Johnson in 1990, one of Africa's foremost private junior and high schools, ranks amongst the top two percent of African schools.

Mrs. Sarah Johnson, the CEO of Lifeforte, sharing her passion for building lives, experience and the secret of the success of Lifeforte, sums it up in the mission statement of the school:

"We believe that African initiatives have been great and can be greater still and so in Lifeforte International School we inculcate a new mindset in our youths to pull down strongholds of race supremacy, fill the valleys of superiority and inferiority complexes militating against us as a black race, straighten the crooked paths of lack of confidence and inadequacies, smoothen the rough paths of wrong mindsets, lack of liberty and true identity, soaring and aspiring for excellence and greatness."

Lifeforte International School, consisting of pre-school, junior and high school 'O' and 'A' Levels, has a mission to catch young minds from the cradle and nurture them through the precarious age of adolescence, where they will know the difference between good and evil, and have the strength of character to choose good.

Lifeforte International School was established about two decades ago when the standard of education in Nigeria was deteriorating. The CEO added that Lifeforte is a calling commissioned by God to contribute something that will enhance significantly and uniquely the falling standard of the sector; that is why excellence and greatness with godly values and Christian ethos are the ruling philosophies that govern the staff and students there.

The CEO opines that, "When you train children in a caring environment with Godly values, and inculcate in them a passion for excellence and a desire to aspire to great heights, you are building a strong nation."

Infusing the entire staff and students with this mindset was initially a challenge. However, the high level commitment, professionalism, and deep passion constantly exhibited by the 'home-grown' management team, teachers, and staff to believe in the students, connect with and care, have made it easy to impart knowledge and develop their talents as well as boost their confidence.

Lifeforte, in a bid to equip the students with an ever-competitive edge, has placed at the heart of the school's curriculum individual mentoring, guidance and pastoral care.

Lifeforte's holistic approach provides a breadth of activities such as sports, arts, music, drama, social ethics, leadership skills, public speaking and elocution, community development and charity work.

Lifeforte also gives the students opportunities to discover and exhibit their creative skills and cultural diversities through Project Talent Hunt.

Travels, one of the major events on the school calendar, provide exposure to different places, people and cultures. The tours are meticulously planned to expose the students to the rich cultural heritage of our beautiful African continent.

Lifeforte is a world class environment, well equipped with facilities: six integrated blocks of fully air-conditioned classrooms, a stately assembly hall and one central administrative block. The school also has a well equipped healthcare centre with a consultant and other experienced medical personnel in-situ on 24 hour call.

An ultra-modern art studio, fully equipped science laboratory, library with internet facility and access to virtual library, are part of the school complex. The information and communication technology (ICT) classroom is a showpiece.

Eight beautiful, 'home-away-from-home' hostels are situated in highly secured and precinct environs with recreational facilities. Divided into male and female sections of four hostels each, all the rooms are fully air-conditioned and spacious. An uninterrupted power supply is ensured by three 500kva generators. Water is supplied via four boreholes.

The essence of Lifeforte and its high standards is to bridge the gap in the standard of education between the developed and developing nations. The goal is to build an educational institution that is global in outlook rather than locally focused, but at the same time is 'Afro-centric'. Lifeforte bridging this educational divide is attested to by a large number of students coming from the United Kingdom and other parts of Europe, America, Canada as well as Africa. The school provides and continues to upgrade world class instruction for the students. The high standard of instruction and learning facilities are attested to by consistently high performances in Cambridge GCE 'O' and 'A' Level, Checkpoint, SAT, JSCE, SSCE, and admission of Lifeforte alumni into top echelon universities such as Harvard, University College London Medical School, University of Alberta Canada, and the University of Ibadan Nigeria.
